

Health Unit Officer Answers Editorial . . .

The Editor,
The Didsbury Pioneer,
Didsbury, Alberta.
Dear Sir:

With reference to your editorial concerning the Regulations for the Control of Communicable Diseases, while I am in entire agreement with you over the matter of the small number of parents who do not keep their children isolated or quarantined, when they are required to do so under the regulations, I must state, quite clearly, that I am entirely in agreement with the regulations themselves.

These regulations published and reviewed periodically by the Provincial Board of Health, in my opinion, represent the most practical method of dealing with communicable diseases. I do not think there is much argument with the majority of these regulations, but the recent changes in the regulations concerning Scarlet Fever and Streptococcal Throat infections have caused a certain amount of controversy.

I do not think that the changes represent the ideal way of dealing with the diseases, but I certainly think they are the most practical method. At this time of year, at any rate in this district, throat infections with Streptococcal have been so common, that to isolate children with the infections and to quarantine their contacts, would each year involve closing a number of schools and prohibition of many public gatherings.

In addition adults are very liable to Streptococcal sore throats, even though they do not usually get the rash of Scarlet Fever. There is no logical reason why they and their contacts should not also be isolated and quarantined. These would be drastic measures for a disease that nowadays, is not usually severe in itself and only rarely leads to complications. Furthermore, the complications practically never arise in cases that have received treatment, and you will note that the change in the regulations refers only to the contacts of cases, not the cases themselves, who still have to be isolated so that they will get treatment.

In this Health Unit area, so far this year, the incidence of these diseases seems to have been less than usual. The City of Calgary, however, did have a considerable increase over their usual number of cases. A remark by the Medical Officer of Health of the City brought the controversy to a head.

He was reported in the press as saying the increased number of cases was directly due to the changes in the regulations. This remark was at best an oversimplification, and ignores the fact that this year, in Canada as a whole, there have been more than twice the number of cases than were reported in 1958, and that eight of the provinces where no changes in regulations have been made, have increases over last year. Some of these increases have been tenfold.

WEDDINGS

GEBERS - REESE

A very pretty wedding took place April 19th in Redeemer Lutheran church, Didsbury, when Deanne Reese, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Reese of Didsbury, became the bride of Mr. Raymond Gebers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gebers of Didsbury.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. E. B. Fox with Mrs. Fox at the organ.

The church was beautifully decorated with pink and white carnations and white mums. Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride looked charming in a full-length gown of white net and lace over satin, with light-blue sleeves. Her fingertip veil misted from a coronet charm and carried colonial bouquets of pink roses. Her only jewelry was a matching set, which included a pearl necklace and earrings, a gift of the groom.

Attending the bride were Miss Marion Jackson, as maid of honor; Miss Florence Reese, sister of the bride; and Miss Jeanette McArthur, as bridesmaid. They were identical sisters of blue crystal charm and carried colonial bouquets of pink and white carnations. They also wore pearl necklaces, a gift of the bride.

Acting as best man was Mr. Gordon Gebers, brother of the groom. The guests were ushered by the bride's brothers, John and Melvin Reese. Mr. Malcolm Murray of Stony Plain sang "The Wedding Prayer" as the bridal couple stood at the altar.

Mr. Murray sang "Wither Thou Goest" during the singing of the register. After pictures were taken a reception was held in the church parlors for approximately ninety guests. A beautiful three-tiered

Just For The Record . . .

There has been a big squawk in Calgary papers lately about sidewalks cracking, heaving, etc. The judge that did some of the beeling during the big investigation, which is still going on, hasn't lived yet! On any given day, not following his familiar trail, he could be upended right in front of our office. The dipsy-doodle sidewalk, which graces the front of our premises threatens to put you to the ground nose first for a closer inspection. Wish the town fathers would get their nose to the ground — cement mixers should take the treatment first.

The government accepted bids for $20 million the other day for petroleum and gas rights on certain properties. We've been told many times that we're suffering from holes in the head because of our comments in this column. This time we'll peek out of one of the holes and suggest a sales tax is unnecessary in this province. CALGARY: CITY OF
SACRED DOGS

Calgary's hardest perennial, which makes its appearance in greater numbers each spring, is the Dog Owner Who Feels Dogs Are Somehow Sacred.

The majority of Calgary like dogs. That is they like dogs which are reasonably well-behaved, dogs which are kept under control and dogs which are friendly. In short they like dogs in their place. They just wish the people owning the dogs would keep them in their place.

Dog lovers are irate about this. Dog owners, as a class in Calgary, have the most peculiar, irresponsible, illogical line of reasoning of any single group in the city.

Dog owners will argue that cats are every bit as bad as dogs.

Dog owners will argue that anyone who objects to holes in their new flower bed or his lawn is a nasty old grump who hates dogs. Dog owners will argue that some people don't control their children and that children too, wreck gardens, fences and lawns. They are so right. But, somehow, dog owners argue that this business of two blacks makes it quite white for their dog to roam at liberty terrorizing children and romping playfully through a neighbor's garden.

It is perfectly obvious to most people, including dog owners, that a man who drives a car is responsible for the control of that car. It is up to him to see that it does not go ploughing through hedges, tearing up lawns or endangering persons. They cannot see that a man has some responsibility for a dog he owns. Two years ago, when City Council considered doing something drastic about putting in bylaws to control dogs in the city, the barking and howling of the dog owners drove some of the aldermen, ever-sensitive to vote-pressure from a minority, to cover.

It is a simple fact that a dog has no place in the city if its owner is not prepared to take the trouble to supervise it. It requires supervision because, living at close quarters in the city, it will offend the rights of the citizens. Dogs should not be allowed to run at large, particularly in the spring gardening season.

Dog owners, most of them decent citizens in most regards, cannot for

SWEET CLOVER WEEVILS
Sweet clover weevils are a major pest of sweet clover, which is widely grown in Western Canada. When seedling plants first emerge from the ground in early spring the small leaves may be eaten by the weevils, in which case the plants die. Such poor stands are often mistaken for poor germination of the seed. Farmers should familiarize themselves with this characteristic plant injury.

The adult, which is a small dark grey snout beetle about 3/16 of an inch in length, feigns death and lies motionless on the ground when disturbed and is difficult to detect. The winter is passed in the adult stage in trash, litter, or top soil. The adults become active about the time second year sweet clover begins to come green.

Within the next several weeks close watch should be maintained by means of frequent inspections. Evidence of their presence can be easily detected. Small crescent shaped pieces will be missing from the edge of the leaves. As time goes on their appetite grows and they will devour more and more of the foliage and if no steps are taken to control them they will inevitably denude the plants of their leaves and they will die.

Chemical control is effective and not very costly, about 75¢ per acre for material. The ordinary weed sprayer set to deliver about 8 to 10 gallons of water per acre is the best line of defence. Insecticides are very poisonous and must be handled with extreme caution. For example, if a nozzle on your machine plugs up, don't put the nozzle against your lips to blow it clear, use a worn out tooth brush instead.

The life of them seem to see that they must act as citizens when it comes to their dogs. A good spate of dog-catching should be ordered by the city to demonstrate to the dog owners that man's best friend is also man's responsibility in the city.

Notes From D.A.

By HOWARD FULCHER
District Agriculturist

Bloat is of concern to all cattlemen. Losses occur both on pasture and in feedlots from it. It is common to all ruminants, cattle, sheep and goats. These animals have a stomach with four compartments. One compartment, the paunch, is where feed breakdown begins, gas formed here is naturally belched off. When an animal loses the ability to belch off the gas, bloat results.

There are various causes of this, some fully understood, some not. Overeating, overdrinking, sudden feed changes, certain gas producing feeds, lack of stomach activity, all can be causes of bloat. In most cases when herds are receiving the same treatment only certain individuals succumb to bloat. Treatments vary and response together with recovery differs in individual animals and in different herds.

Much research has been carried out to find more answers to this problem. There are many questions still unanswered but some general precautions are fairly firmly established now. As most of the trouble occurs in pastures the first precautions to consider are those concerned with pasturing.

The pasture mixture should not contain high levels of legumes, these crops are more gas producing. Percentage of legumes should be kept down to one third or less. Water should be available at reasonable distances from grazing areas. A supply of dry feed, hay, straw, stack, etc., should be in pasture fields so cattle can have access to some dry feed. Cattle should not be hungry when turned out on new pastures.

Minerals should be provided with cattle having free access too them. Lack of sufficient minerals are detrimental to the livestock's well being and can be a predisposing factor to inactive stomach action which reduces belching.

Avoid unnecessary excitement which may be brought to the herd by flies, dogs, rough herding, etc.; this will cause unrest and hunger to the animals and results in rapid gorging with resulting bloat.

RUSSIAN CHALLENGE

IN THE NORTHLAND

In developing their northland, the Russians have a head start on us in Canada. They also have a much larger population to draw for colonization of remote places, and perhaps Russians in general are more inured to the rigors of a very cold climate than Canadians in general.

But Canada can't afford to lag too far behind, warns the Financial Post. The Russian TV station at Norilsk on the Siberian Arctic Coast, is both a challenge and a lesson in the amenities that can be made available communities in the far north. When will Canada put up its first TV tower north of the Arctic circle?

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The ever-present light of the Christ, Truth, will be stressed at Christian Science services Sunday. Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Probation After Death," is the Golden Text from Isaiah (9:2): "The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light: they that dwell in the land of the shadow of death, upon them hath the light shined."

The power of this light is also brought out in selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, including the following (215:12): "Whatever is governed by God is never for an instant deprived of the light and might of Intelligence and Life." Included in the Bible passages to be read in this verse from Matthew (5:16): "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in Heaven."

THE DIDSBURY PIONEER

Health Unit

statement issued by the minister of health in the Edmonton Journal on February 6th, 1959:

Health Minister Dr. J. Donovan Ross said Thursday he doubts a relaxation of quarantine regulations has anything to do with an increase in the incidence of Scarlet Fever in Calgary.

Calgary's medical health officer has expressed alarm over the upsurge in Scarlet Fever cases, and has suggested it might be due to unsuspecting carriers being at large.

Last September the quarantine regulations were changed on recommendation of the provincial board of health, to provide a seven to 21-day quarantine only for persons suffering from the disease.

Quarantines for possible contacts were lifted. The only restriction remaining is one that prevents any contact who handles unpasteurized milk from carrying on his occupation during the quarantine period.

Under the old regulation, contacts under 18 living in the same house as the victim could be quarantined for the full period. Contacts over 18 who work at food handling were restricted from working.

Dr. Ross said the changes were made at the request of municipal health officers.

Health officials felt the relaxation was warranted in view of the effectiveness of new antibiotics in combating Scarlet Fever, the minister said.

He added it probably is an "unfortunate coincidence" that the disease is breaking out heavily a few months after the new regulations went into effect. An increase in the incidence is normal for this time of year, he said.

Dr. Ross said health officials will watch the situation, and if it appears that stricter regulations are needed "we won't hesitate to change them."

Yours sincerely,
D. N. KEYS, M.B., D.P.H.,
Medical Officer of Health

CREMONA NEWS

(From Our Own Correspondent)

(Intended For Last Week)

Two fires were reported in this vicinity during the weekend. Saturday morning, a fire was discovered burning a small building behind the McKinnon store. Local help was recruited with some volunteers from Cremona, put the fire out without further loss. However, the situation was tricky for a while and had the fire spread to Mr. J. Lowe's dwelling, all Water Valley would have been in danger. In late afternoon of the same day a fire was discovered in Cremona, just north of Jack Bett's, on the property that at one time belonged to Harry Hewitt. A strong wind hampered efforts to put out the fire which spread rapidly in the dry grass and brush. Fire fighters were successful in preventing the fire from spreading to any other buildings; though Mrs. Tom Camp will have a house-cleaning job on her hands, as their home was permeated with smoke.

The 8-monthly meeting of the Sewing Circle was held at the home of Mrs. Marion Reid's last Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Van Haeften has returned home from her visit to the coast.

Mrs. Jane Camps returned home from the hospital last week.

The sympathy of the district is extended to the Odell family in the loss of their father, Mr. W. Odell.

Mrs. C. Franklin is hospitalized in Calgary.

The home and school met last Tuesday evening, April 7th, with the poorest turnout this year. The topic of discussion was on more wholesome facilities for recreation for children and young people.

A large number of friends and relatives gathered at the new home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Wigg's last Thursday evening for an evening housewarming. The Wiggs were showered with gifts and good wishes.

DISTRICT NEWS

M.V.B.C. NEWS

(From Our Own Correspondent)

The examinations have come to a close and students are waiting for their results now. During the time activities are the order of the day on the campus. Friends after a distance are here to see their young folk graduate; one of whom is, Mrs. McGinnis of Ontario, who has come to see Margaret graduate. By the time you read this column, Commencement will be past, students will be on their tours and those not in the choir will be on their way home. Thus a year closes again, and preparations will begin immediately for the coming year.

Mrs. M. A. Finlay is a campus guest for the Commencement week-end. Miss Della Schlichter, who was Dean in Emanuel College, Kitchener, and has now a position on staff of Beulah Home, Edmonton, is also a guest in the home of Miss Gladys Eby for this period of time. Miss Mary Walsh, of Calgary, former Dean here, was a guest of Mrs. Suder during the weekend.

Rev. Arthur Walsh concluded his Bible Conference in the church on Sunday night. In the afternoon he was the speaker for Baccalaureate service. This colorful occasion was only exceeded in loveliness by the Commencement service Monday evening in which awards, diplomas and certificates were given the student graduates. Rev. Kenneth Geiger was the guest speaker of that occasion and a capacity crowd was there to hear the message. 16 students graduated. Among them, six received the degree of Bachelor of Sacred Literature: Phyllis and Ormond Sherrick, LaVerne Neufeld, Louise Nagel, Clifford and Breta Reimer. Ten others received their Bible diploma: Ray Stauffer, Clifford Stauffer, William Stauffer, Leonard Dewitz, Elaine Wolfe, Addie Takanaka, Fred Martin, Margaret McGinnis, Grace Eby, Lucille Wiens. Some of these young people will return to take the degree course next year.

Awards for the John Suder Speech contest were granted to Ann Snyder and Evelyn Shauer. Two young people received awards in the Eby Holness Sermon contest: Ann Snyder and Ray Stauffer. Four young people received the Harold Oke Service Award: The young man and woman receiving first place: LaVerne Neufeld and Elaine Wolfe; those receiving second place: Margaret McGinnis and Ormond Sherrick. Awards for the Missions class have not yet been made known, but will be given next week.

Miss Della Schlichter and Miss Gladys Eby were Sunday dinner guests at the Hunsperger home.

As a College we would be glad to receive the names of all local young people who plan to attend here this fall. We will have new catalogues this year with the revised course, and copies of the course will be available upon application for it.

Fresh News For Dawdlers ...

Some widely-held beliefs on the causes of car accidents get little support from a special report of the United States Bureau of Public Roads.

Based on the statistics from 11 of the American states, it comes to these conclusions:

That the accident rate is highest below speeds of 40 m.p.h., lowest at 65 m.p.h., then climbs as speed increases.

That women, based on the mileage driven, have an 18 percent higher accident rate than men.

At first glance, perhaps, most surprising of those findings will be the first part of the first - that the second rate is highest below 40 miles an hour. Undoubtedly, however, this is largely explained by the average motorist today runs up most of his total mileage in bumper to bumper city driving. So he has little opportunity for exceeding 40 miles per hour.

CREMONA NEWS

(From Our Own Correspondent)

The sympathy of the Cremona district is extended to Mr. and Mrs. K. Bergeson in the loss of their son.

Two Cremona rinks participated in the Legion bonspiel in Calgary last week; both made the prize list. Mr. A. Husby's rink, with Mr. Charles Topping, Mr. J. Watt and Mr. G. Befus, won first in the 2nd event, while Mr. Tippe, assisted by Mr. V. Umbach, Mr. G. Graham and Mr. John Jacobson won third place honors in the 4th event.

Another successful literary evening featuring two plays from the Western district, was presented at the auditorium on Friday evening.

Mr. L. Sanderman had the misfortune to injure his leg last week and will be unable to work for the next week or so.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lane, Rick and Marion, and Mrs. Lane Sr., were Cremona visitors on Sunday.

We understand several people have been disappointed because they have had to remove buildings moved into the village without a permit. The buildings apparently did not measure up to the village specifications.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. E. Caebeber in the loss of her sister-in-law. Mrs. Caebeber attended the funeral at Lake Prairie and spent a few days there.

We are delighted to hear that our pastor's wife, Mrs. Magee, is recovering nicely from a recent operation and is expected to return home this week. Rev. Magee's mother, who is over 80 years of age, has been keeping house during Mrs. Magee's absence.

Among those from Cremona who attended the funeral in Calgary of Mr. M. Jones, last Wednesday afternoon, were Mrs. M. Reid, Mr. A. Reid and Mr. K. Brien. Mr. Jones was a field man for the A.P. Grain Company.

Word has been received that a student minister is on his way to take over the summer work at Water Valley and Graham. Anyone interested in participating in a car fund for the student minister are asked to contact Rev. Magee.

Mrs. M. McBlain has been appointed treasurer for the local United church board, after being elected to the board by a congregational meeting. Thanks were extended to Mr. B. B. Reid, who has served the church faithfully for many years.

WEST NOTES

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Mr. and Mrs. A. Anderson of Calgary spent the weekend with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hoesgood.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Host visited with Mrs. F. Niddie of Mound on Friday. The latter had just returned from California, where she had been called due to the sudden death of her son-in-law.

Members of the Rugby W.I. presented two plays at Cremona on Friday night. Owing to the illness of Mrs. Dan Stewart, Mrs. L. Krebs took over the leading roll. Approximately $85 was taken in; proceeds will go towards chairs for the Cremona auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bagnshaw and Mr. and Mrs. O. Blain were Calgary visitors on Sunday.

Best wishes are extended to Ronald Blain, who underwent an appendicectomy last week. Also get-well wishes to his father, Mr. Arnold Blain, who is a patient in the University hospital in Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hogg and sons, visited with the Wilsons, west of Cremona, on Sunday.

The Elkton Winding Workers held a military waltz drive at the school on Wednesday of last week, with seven tables in play. Honors went to Mrs. W. Janke, Mrs. J. Bagnshaw, Mr. J. Bagnshaw and Mr. D. Hoesgood.
